PROFILE

I own both ends of the product. I run the research, design the experience in Figma, then build and ship it in React and TypeScript. There is no handoff, no spec thrown over a wall, no meeting about why the build does not match the design. 15+ years in product design, 3+ years delivering production front-end. I also ship AI features in production under engineering discipline: prompts versioned and tested like code, evals gating the deploy, token spend measured. Engineering applied to a probabilistic system, not vibe coding.

SELECTED IMPACT

Design system adopted by 3 cross-functional teams, ~40% less design-to-development handoff time and used as the single source of truth across product, ~28% higher feature adoption after the system rollout.
